

Congratulations, Kate. Choir is going so well.

In February this year I attended Primary Choir as a Casual. At the time Kate was very new and the number of students that turned up was very small - a handful or so at most. Kate's ability and enthusiasm were obvious but forming a substantial choir anytime soon seemed likely to be an uphill battle. I crossed my fingers for her but wasn't hopeful.

Roll forward to Week 1, Term 2 when I again got to attend Primary Choir as a privileged 'fly on the wall' observer, Casual. The pictures below speak for themselves. Rehearsal was fun for all involved and the now huge choir, composed of an enormous number of students from grades 3 -6, is positively thriving. Kate's talent, inclusive friendliness and enthusiasm shine brightly and are reflected in the students' shiny smiles and lively, joyous participation.
