

School Days

AUTUMN 21

From the Principal

Greetings to all within our community.

As we commence a new school year, we are naturally drawn to reflect on the past 12 months and acknowledge the challenges and changes that have occurred to the world around us.

Within a pandemic, the most obvious of these to schools has been the shift in educational thinking and the excitement around reimagining what schooling could be for us into the future. With the forced introduction of remote learning early last year, the college was proactive in establishing the 'how' and 'what' that was needed to provide relevant and meaningful educational opportunities for the students in our care.

More importantly, the leadership group was very conscious of establishing the 'why' in all that we do to reinforce our vision as a Lutheran school.

Author and visionary thinker, Simon Sinek, explains that for individuals to be inspired, feel safe and fulfilled in life we must first start with the 'why'. Our mission as a Lutheran school identifies our purpose of establishing a Christian community that is committed to providing a quality Christian education that nurtures our young people for a life of faith and service.

Our belief of why we do this is deeply rooted in a Gospel centred approach that provides rich and dynamic opportunities to support individuals to thrive in this changing and challenging world we live in. Through our 'why' we prepare students for pathways of their choice whilst shaping their confidence, capabilities and character—affirming quality Christian education and care for all members of our community.

Understanding the 'why' of HTLC leads us to the 'how' and the 'what', where we strive for excellence, encourage innovation, applaud effort and value the relationships in our community. Starting with the 'why' at the beginning of each year strengthens our focus and purpose for the 'how' and the 'what' we do each term.

Throughout this year I encourage all members of the Holy Trinity community to also focus on the 'why', keeping us centred and focused on who and whose we are. Wishing you all a blessed year.

Mr Daniel Weller
College Principal

Holy Trinity Racing Team

The HPV Team were a force to be reckoned with as they kicked off the 2021 racing season at Mt Gambier and, for the first time, Tailem Bend. Holy Trinity Racing has had a very successful and brilliant start to the season, with our fleet of six vehicles all finishing in the Top 10 in their categories at each race. Georgia Foster, Jack Hicks, Leah Eilola and Ellita Scollary all recorded the fastest lap in their categories.

Thank you to our sponsors, supporters, staff members and Team Managers (Mr McLoughlin and Miss Davis) for your endless enthusiasm and commitment to growing and improving our team since our humble beginnings 13 years ago!

Leading through Service

At Holy Trinity, students are provided with pathways for students to grow and develop their leadership skills, and embody the college's values of achievement, creativity, respect, responsibility, diversity and acceptance. But students don't need to have a badge on their chest to be a leader. All students are encouraged to lead by example, where service to others, teamwork, taking initiative and developing responsibility is emphasised.

Congratulations to all of our student leaders! We wish them all the best as they fulfil their leadership positions this year.

This Award is recognition of the enthusiasm and inspiration that he brings to each of his classes and the innovative ways that he engages students in their learning. We are always extremely proud to have a member of our teaching staff acknowledged for their outstanding contributions and the dedication and care they show to our students.

Sports News

After a year of disruption to school sport, students were eager to get some points on the board for their House in our three major sporting Carnivals! From these events, we have had students go on to represent the college at the region, division and state levels.

RoboCup

In May, we were excited to welcome RoboCup Junior back to Horsham! The competition was hosted by HTLC, and we were lucky to be assisted by co-founder of the organisation, Brian Thomas.

This event provided local students with an opportunity to develop and apply STEM skills they have been learning during their lunchtime Robotics Club.

All the students involved were a credit to their schools in the way they supported each other and competed with integrity. Congratulations to Keisha Bessellar (Rescue), and Justin Schwarz, Andy Mbatu and Edward Jones (Soccer) who won their categories. Well done to everyone who competed.

Around the School

The second stage of the Senior Centre is now coming to completion with the facility becoming available to us for the start of Term 3. Featuring a general classroom, locker bays, science lab, high performance sport centre and stadium, the new precinct provides the college with vital learning environments that cater for many students and programs across the Middle and Senior Schools. This recent building project will complete the Senior School precinct. We give thanks for this new facility and look forward to the valued learning opportunities that will occur within it.

Our Junior School students were very excited to find new playground equipment in the sand pit area as they started school this year. Thank you to the PTFA for providing this equipment for our students to enjoy.

A new sail has been installed at the Senior Oval to provide much-needed shade for students. We would like to thank Garry Wallace for his donation of the sail to the school, which was made in loving memory of his daughter, Emma.
